The Courtney Suit Against the City.

I notice in the Dispatch of Saturday the 21st an article in regard to the case of Elizabeth Courtney vs. The City of Richmond. The author, whoever he may be, has made some mistakes that I think due to that unfortunate lady to correct. He says it was proved that she was unused to going out at night; that she had been blind some years ago from disease, but had recovered her sight. I do not know what evidence was given in the case; but I do know that she was in the habit of going out at night, and was compelled to do so very often during the long illness of the niece she was then living with. I also know she was never blind from disease or any other cauaccident occurred October 12, 1876. She has suffered from it ever since, and is at pre sent very feeble. She is old, and ber life is of no value in the eyes of the world, but I trust that God will take care of ber.
